The mat was a success and I used it all last summer in a "batting zone" for the colts. I am also lending out to certain parents over winter and will use with u9's in winter nets.

I have found it very useful for both my children (11 and 8), and have also used it for sessions at our club with the Under 11s.

The mat has been excellent and Sam has developed a very good understanding of the principles underlying shot selection and the technique required to control each stroke.

In the 3 seasons I have had one of your mats I can only say I have been delighted with it, and have drilled techniques with cricketers from age 9 up to 49., yes It certainly does the trick.

Mark Caldwell - Ashcott and Shapwick CC, Somerset

We have now been using the cricket coaching mats within our normal club colts evening, our winter indoor training & winter schools programme for over a year & have found an instant improvement to the development of our young players game techniques, so good we have bought some more!!

Peter Cook - Ickenham CC

The coaching mat is an excellent product. Hats-off to your innovation. I will definitely recommend it to other people.

Manjunath Udupa - India

I found the mats to be particularly useful with the younger age group and with the girls. It is far more useful to have a youngster use a mat where he/she can groove a skill rather than throw downs in a net. Traditional net practice is useless unless the bowlers are skilled and disciplined enough to put the ball consistently in the right areas and until batters have the shot skills and the instincts to play them. Your coaching mats provide a perfect calm environment to teach the skill but retain the satisfaction for the kids of successfully being able to hit a ball into a target area. I have also used them with some adults to groove technical shot improvements and they work just as well!

Ian Douglas - Huish and Langport CC, Somerset

We used the mat in our winter net sessions, and outdoors this summer in several sessions. We've found it to be very useful in 'drilling' technique – and in particular in building the confidence of less able juniors, free from their apprehension of facing bowling in a net they can 'let themselves go' and strike the ball with increasing gusto!

Yapham CC Junior Section Co-ordinator

The coaches, parents and players say they are great, particularly for youngsters still learning the game.

Neil Hutchinson - Normanby Park CC, North Yorkshire

Thank you for coming and demonstrating the product, I was very surprised at the number of ways in which the mats can be used, I have previously considered them only as a batting aid, but following your demonstration, have been utilising the potential to improve fielding performance as well as the obvious benefits for batting. Our under 9 coach is also using the mat as a bowling coaching tool and so the value we are getting from it is 3 times that which we would have thought we would have. The kids are enjoying the games and competitive nature the mat enables and we are already seeing development in their games, especially the less developed players who have found batting and bowling techniques more difficult to grasp, but with the coaching mat, a few barriers appear to have been broken and it is easier to explain things in a way in which a 10 year finds easier to understand!

Ray Bottomley - Hall Bower CC, Huddersfield

We used the coaching mat in every other coaching session across the season. We have some 60 odd children on our Friday night sessions and so we need drills that involve 10 or so children to work off our 6 coaches. This means working the mat into a batting and fielding drill situation which works well.
